

Letter of Intent for Vice President

American Osteopathic College of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation

Dear Members of the Selection Committee,

I am honored to accept my nomination for Vice President of the American Osteopathic College of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation. My interest in serving in this role is grounded in more than 30 years of active membership and sustained service to the College and to the field of Osteopathic Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation.

Over the past three decades, I have had the privilege of serving as Chair of the Education Committee and as Program Chair for multiple mid-year and annual meetings. These roles have allowed me to contribute directly to the College's educational mission and to work collaboratively with colleagues to develop high-quality, relevant programming for our members.

My professional career encompasses a broad range of clinical and leadership experiences across all aspects of rehabilitation medicine. In addition, I am actively involved with the American Osteopathic Board of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation as an item writer, supporting excellence in certification and ongoing professional education.

I have also contributed to the academic advancement of our specialty through multiple publications, including clinical studies involving intrathecal drug delivery and spinal cord stimulation. These efforts reflect my commitment to evidence-based practice, innovation, and patient-centered care.

If elected Vice President, I would bring experience, institutional knowledge, and a collaborative approach to leadership. I am committed to supporting the College's mission, strengthening member engagement, and helping guide the organization's continued growth and relevance.

Thank you for your consideration.

Respectfully,

Michael Creamer, DO

Distinguished Fellow of the AOCPMR
